Dear Mr. Reiss,

Your writing is about like mine. I cannot make out all of your note. In the U.S. 63 houses declined the book, for varying reasons. This is set forth in the Preface.

Of one thing there can be no questions the Commission was not at all objective. If you doubt this, and to find the answers to your other questions, may I suggest you let the book speak for itself?

If I understand another question, I do not think it is wise for one man to pretend he can enter the mind of another.

WHITEWASH is now available to all bookstore, and I imagine many in New York have it.

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
